The PCR Small Cap Index Outperforms the Markets in April

WILTON, CT, May 8, 2008 – In April, PCR’s Small Cap Index continued to outperform relevant market benchmarks. PCR’s Index gained 4.24%, slightly outperforming the S&P 600 and Russell 2000, which gained 4.01% and 4.19% respectively, according to research by Private Client Resources, LLC.

PCR’s Peer Group Indices are based on PCR’s High Wealth Data Set™, a byproduct of its aggregation service. Currently, the data set contains nearly $20 billion in wealth information from clients worth approximately $90 million on average.

“In the past 8 quarters, PCR’s small cap index has outperformed the market at an average annual rate of 200 to 300 basis points depending on the index,” said Christopher Snyder, President of PCR.

	April	Last 3 Months	Last 6 Months	Last Year Annualized	Last 2 Years Annualized
PCR Small Cap Peer Group Index	4.24%	3.1%	-7.37%	-7.17%	0.65
S&P 600	4.01%	0.98%	-12.05%	-9.89%	-2.00
Russell 2000	4.19%	0.49%	-13.45%	-12.00%	-3.21

“We have known for some time that high wealth households outperform the markets,” said Snyder. “Now high wealth clients can compare returns to their peers, which is a higher and more relevant bar than the broad markets.”

PCR also publishes high wealth performance indices for hedge funds, large cap, private equity and other groupings.

PCR, in addition to the small cap index, publishes trends in asset allocation for three wealth peer groups; $25 million, $50 million and over $100 million. According to Will Matthews, a PCR client and resident of Palm Beach, “It is lovely to see what my peer group is doing, I so hate being the last to leave the party.”
